processing personal data using akelius-languages.com

This privacy policy informs you of the processing of your personal data when using the Akelius web-based version of akelius-languages.com.

children require verifiable consent from legal guardians

Unless stated otherwise for a particular service, children are not allowed to use the services, and we do not knowingly collect personal data from them.

We define "children" as follows

- residents of the United Kingdom, under 13 years old
- residents of the European Economic Area, under 16 years old or the age required to consent to the processing of personal data in their country of residence
- residents of the Republic of Korea, under 14 years old
- residents of other regions, under 13 years old or the age required to consent to the processing of personal data in that region

For services that do permit child participation, parents or legal guardians ("Parents") must provide verified consent.

Verifiable parental consent is required for the collection, use, or disclosure of a child's personal data.

We will not collect, use, or disclose any personal data from a child if their parent or guardian does not provide such consent.

We may ask a child to provide a parent's email address to request this consent, and the parent's email address will be deleted if consent is not provided within a reasonable time.
